Me

My name is Andreas Steiner (<https://de.gravatar.com/andreassteiner82>). With a multinational background of more than 13 years as Business Information Scientist and Corporate Development Specialist as well as an experienced trainer, coach and speaker, I am considering myself as an organization designer, who is integrating a profound mélange of technological, organizational, economic and applied psychological knowledge, skills and methods. Further certified education and studying in fields like Model and Systems Thinking, Philosophy, Team Leadership and Development, Change Management, Intercultural Communication, Constructivism or Systemic Counseling, combined with active knowledge in areas like Business Modeling, Prosci ADKAR, WaVe, CMMI, ITIL, or PMI and Scrum, embodies in total the interdisciplinary fusion of my day to day oeuvre and are parts of my private passions.

The foundations of my expertise and knowledge are based on profound education, further studying and learning. I had the pleasure, opportunity and honour to study and continuously learn at and by grandiose support of the following innovative and state of the art institutions. Lifelong learning is part of my identity. I consider being eclectic as a huge and powerful force and always act based on syncretistic, reinforcing and fusioning approaches.
